Category

Commercial Excellence

Value-Based Selling & Commercial Narratives Playbook

Selling on quantified value the customer can defend internally, not just features and benefits

- Practitioner
- Intermediate
- Template Included

- Administrator
- 07 January 2024
- 3 minute(s)

Overview

A framework for value-based selling and commercial narrative development — building sales conversations around quantified customer value the buyer can defend internally to their own stakeholders, rather than feature-and-benefit selling that doesn't equip buyers to justify the purchase within their own organization.

How is value-based selling genuinely different from simply emphasizing benefits over features in a sales pitch? Value-based selling specifically means quantifying the customer's expected value (cost savings, revenue impact, risk reduction) in terms the buyer can use to justify the purchase internally — this is more specific and rigorous than general benefit-oriented messaging, and requires genuine quantification, not just qualitative benefit statements.

Why does quantified value matter especially for complex B2B sales with multiple stakeholders? The actual buyer often needs to justify the purchase to other internal stakeholders who weren't part of the sales conversation — a quantified value narrative gives them concrete language and numbers to make that internal case, which qualitative benefit descriptions alone don't provide.

{ "@context": "https://schema.org", "@type": "FAQPage", "mainEntity": [{ "@type": "Question", "name": "How is value-based selling genuinely different from simply", "acceptedAnswer": { "@type": "Answer", "text": "emphasizing benefits over features in a sales pitch?\nValue-based selling specifically means quantifying the customer's\nexpected value (cost savings, revenue impact, risk reduction) in terms\nthe buyer can use to justify the purchase internally — this is more\nspecific and rigorous than general benefit-oriented messaging, and\nrequires genuine quantification, not just qualitative benefit\nstatements." } }, { "@type": "Question", "name": "Why does quantified value matter especially for complex B2B sales", "acceptedAnswer": { "@type": "Answer", "text": "with multiple stakeholders?\nThe actual buyer often needs to justify the purchase to other internal\nstakeholders who weren't part of the sales conversation — a quantified\nvalue narrative gives them concrete language and numbers to make that\ninternal case, which qualitative benefit descriptions alone don't\nprovide." } }] }

Subscriber access

Unlock this playbook

This playbook — including every framework, template, and step-by-step section — is available free to Think Insights subscribers. Enter your email to unlock it instantly and get our weekly insights newsletter. No account needed, and access is remembered on this device.

First Name

Last Name

Email

Country - Select -

- [ ] I agree to data processing in accordance with GDPR

Submit

Leave this field blank

References

Related playbooks

Commercial Excellence

Multi-Channel Prospecting & Outreach Excellence Playbook

A framework for multi-channel prospecting and outreach excellence — coordinating email, phone, social, and other outreach channels around a coherent prospect ex

- Practitioner

- Intermediate
- Template Included

Read playbook

Commercial Excellence

Negotiation Strategy & Deal Structuring Excellence Playbook

A framework for negotiation strategy and deal structuring excellence — deliberate pre-negotiation planning including concession strategy and creative deal struc

- Practitioner
- Intermediate
- Template Included

Read playbook

Commercial Excellence

Opportunity Management & Deal Progression Excellence Playbook

A framework for opportunity management and deal progression excellence — grounding stage progression criteria in genuine buyer commitment signals, not activity-

- Practitioner
- Intermediate
- Template Included

Read playbook

Talk to us about value-based selling

Tags

- Value-Based Selling
- Commercial Narratives
- Sales Excellence

Author

Administrator

Think Insights Administrator